1. “Let’s do it in the dorm room, everyone else does!”

DON’T.

Under no circumstances it's a good idea to hook up in the dorm. There's some people out there that will get really mad, and may even interrupt you rudely.

Put yourself in the shoes of a weary traveler trying to sleep.

Suddenly you hear moans and bed-squeaking: the obvious clues that hostel sex has commenced.

Either you interrupt and tell them it isn't acceptable now, or wait 'til the morning to turn their cheeks pink.

The bottom line is that no one wants to hear it, and no matter how quiet you think you're being; chances are everyone can hear you.

Seriously...you are not as quiet as you think you are...

It does not matter if you are staying in a 4-bed dorm or a 16-bed dorm or even bigger, sex in dorms is a bad idea.

However: You could wait until everybody left. Most likely hostels are empty after 11am, since most people head out for the day. But remember, that there is a cleaning boy or lady coming in at one point.

And what's worse than making the beast-with-two-backs in a dorm?

Doing it on the top bunk!

Not only is the poor person below you anticipating a collapsed bed, but you risk your sheets falling over the side and disappearing.

2. “Come on let’s check out the views on the rooftop!”

DO.

This is your smartest idea when you are about to have sex in hostels. A private room is your best bet, no doubt. Of course, it is kind of awkward to crawl up the reception desk and ask for a private room. Plus, when traveling on a budget, this will burn a hole in your wallet.

So, while a private room is your absolute best idea to hook up, there is some cons.

However, bear in mind you can do whatever you want when the room is all yours.

Just saying, it might be worth it, especially when splitting the costs...

3. “Come on let’s check out the views on the rooftop!”

DO.

Assuming you’re both traveling on a tight budget: the rooftop, shower, even the cleaning cupboard – if it is private (lockable) and after hours, then your naughty antics shouldn’t upset other hostel-goers.

Those that have tried it suggest aiming for the early hours of the morning when you’re less likely to get caught.

One ‘don’t’ however; sofas and kitchen areas.

Would you really want to reminisce about your rendezvous as you prepare breakfast on the same table the next morning...?

Exactly, so spare others this too.

Plus, the chance to get caught is quite high. Do not risk it, the hostel could even throw you out for this.

4. “The staff might catch us, should we be worried?”

DO (worry).

Staff are aware that hostel sex happens, and being (mostly) young and free themselves, they probably don't care.

But!

There is a but, actually a few buts.

a. Respect should be shown to the awesome staff, wouldn't you agree?

Forums suggest that staff would prefer you to book a private room, and they don't care if that means asking them at 2am.

It prevents angry dorm-buddies complaining (or making ghost-sounds), and subsequent embarrassment from both parties.

Perhaps you'll even get a discount as after all, they'd rather sell the room cheaper than not at all. Ask for it!

For those on a (really) tight budget, stick with the shower – staff can easily redirect shocked guests to other facilities, and don't have to worry about extending their cleaning hours in the morning, if you catch our drift.

b. you can get kicked out

Keep in mind that the staff can also kick you out when you violate the hostel rules. No joke. If you think you can just start to hook up wherever you are, well, you made the bet without the staff.

c. Roof Tops can have CCTV

Although we recommend to check out the roof top terrace, remember that hostels have cameras. They can have cameras on the roof top terrace as well.

We chat a lot with staff from different hostels. Once a couple did their thing on the rooftop terrace. They didn't realize the cameras. The staff member has to check every morning the video tapes to see if everything was ok with the bar etc.

Well...you can imagine the surprise. She was cool with it, and her reaction priceless. When the couple checked out, our friend ask them if they noticed the cameras on the roof top terrace. The girl blushed, the girl not as much.

So, please, show some respect.

Again the roof top terrace is an idea. If not, keep scrolling, we have more tips on how to have sex in hostels.

5. “A condom? I don’t have one, but don’t let that stop us.”

DON’T.

Ok ok, traveling somewhere new should be filled with spontaneity and excitement, but there should also be limits to your care-free attitude.

It is perfectly acceptable to keep some inhibitions whilst traveling, and safe sex – not just hostel sex – is important.

Don’t let the heat of the moment tell you otherwise!

The only fun things to take away from hostel sex are fun memories and a story to tell, perhaps even a t-shirt.

Also good to know: Many hostels have condom machines or sell condoms at the reception desk. No kidding!

Anyways, your best idea would be to pack a few condoms.

6. Watch out for security cameras

The alternative title for this topic was "do not become a po*n star"

Whatever you, there is one thing you have to remember:

Hostels HAVE cameras.

The cameras are actually there for security purpose - and not to spy on you.

So, therefore, if you are planning to hook up on the roof top terrace or the laundry room...have a look if there is a camera first!

Insider: MANY many hostels out there have "internal sex tapes" of guests hooking up. This is quite funny for them. Well, but not for you, right?!

Keep an eye on cameras - because they will for sure keep an eye on you!

We read on other networks they do recommend the laundry room to hook up.

In theory, great advise. But again, make sure there is no camera. You do want to avoid this. You do not want to be that girl that  the guy a  in the hallway, caught on camera. You do not want to be that person that ...well, you get the idea!

Aaaaanyway, the whole point is: Hostels have camera, do not become a po*n star!

7. Bathroom, Toilet and Showers

DO.

Besides getting your own room, the bathroom could be a solid option. Many hostels have shared bathrooms and ensuite facilities in the dorms or well, private rooms. If you have a private room with ensuite facilities, the problem is solved anyways.

This option is really only valid for a short time. Not really comfortable, and not really time for romance, as you can imagine.

Anyways, it's a solid option to consider.

8. Kitchen

DON'T.

Sorry, but we have to mention this again. Just skip the kitchen, do not even think about it. Chances are incredibly high you will get caught. Plus, this is just nasty.

9. Laundry Room

DO.

We already mentioned the laundry room. While this room is usually sticky, and small, it could be your private room for a few moments.

Just make sure you can actually lock the door.

And again: Check that there is no camera filming you.

10. Be Creative...

Last but not least: Be creative! Maybe there is a corner in the hostel nobody knows about. Maybe a cinema? Maybe the hostel has also a large garden, or a forest behind the hostel?

Even in public could be a better idea than having sex in the dorm.

Just keep in mind in some countries it is illegal and could lead to other kind of troubles.

Summary of the 10 Do's and don'ts:

1. DON'T: dorm sex
2. DO: Private Room
3. DO: rooftop terrace
4. DO: ask the staff for a private room
5. DO: get condoms
6. Remember, hostels have cameras
7. DO: Bathroom, toilet, shower
8. DO: Laundry Room
9. DON'T: Kitchen
10. DO: Be creative and always remember: Hostels do have cameras!
